We have had an exciting, and busy, start to the year. I have been very pleased to see how well our students have settled in and are already focussed on the learning tasks ahead.

At Arndell we are always looking to improve the ways in which we deliver learning to our students and a central part of the College Strategic Plan, which was created in 2014, is the ongoing development of the pedagogical (or in layman’s terms teaching practice) that occurs within the College. Mrs Karen Merrick, Director of Curriculum and Policy has oversight of this and we are currently exploring four well researched pedagogical practices, all of which, we believe will lead to improved student outcomes.

A central part of the College Strategic Plan, which was created in 2014, is the ongoing development of the pedagogical (or in layman's terms teaching practice) that occurs within the college. Mrs Karen Merrick, Director of Curriculum and Policy has oversight of this and we are currently exploring four well researched pedagogical practices, all of which, we believe will lead to improved student outcomes. The four pedagogical practices being researched are; the growth mindset, explicit or direct instruction, working memory and visible thinking.

Mindset is a simple idea discovered by world-renowned Stanford University psychologist Carol Dweck over decades of research on achievement and success. In a fixed mindset, people believe their basic qualities, like intelligence or talent, are simply fixed traits. They spend their time documenting their intelligence or talent instead of developing them. They also believe that talent alone creates success—without effort. They’re wrong.

In a growth mindset, people believe that their most basic abilities can be developed through dedication and hard work—brains and talent are just the starting point. This view creates a love of learning and a resilience that is essential for great accomplishment. Virtually all great people have had these qualities. Teaching a growth mindset creates motivation and productivity in the worlds of business, education, and sports. It can also enhance relationships.

Explicit or Direct Instruction is a method that clearly identifies the knowledge and skills of learning. It includes strong framing and classification and is focused on clear outcomes, demonstrations and explanations. Also, it uses a number of supports or scaffolds to guide students through learning before gradually withdrawing support until independent mastery is achieved. Finally, practice is supported with clear feedback. All of which leads to better teaching and in turn better learning.

The development of effective working memory has the capacity to improve your critical and creative thinking. It can help you handle more effectively the complexity of modern life with its busy schedules and often increased demands. The teaching staff here will be learning a series of exercises they will be able to use with their students to help them improve their working memory.

Finally, visible thinking, which is based in research emerging from Harvard University, is a flexible and systematic research-based framework, which aims to integrate the development of students' thinking with content learning across subject matters. Visible thinking emphasizes three core practices: thinking routines, the documentation of student thinking, and reflective professional practice.

We have already enabled eight teachers, from across the college, to conduct visible thinking training and a further eight staff will be completing their training this year. Over the course of the year a series of pilot programs will be implemented in the college and will involve over 30 teaching staff. Once completed the programs will be assessed as we move to create our own teaching and learning framework, meeting the needs of our students within our particular context. The implementation of this framework we will see improve student outcomes, something we are all striving to see.
From the Deputy Headmaster

Mr James Webb

Rural Fire Service (RFS) Cadet Program

Arndell Anglican College has signed up for the RFS Cadet Program. This program provides students with the opportunity to follow the training service ideals of the NSW RFS during the school year.

The program offers a level of teamwork, and a sense of community. Values that are a significant part of our strategic vision. The program offers challenging training, practical life skills, leadership and initiative and fosters those qualities of responsible community service.

We are offering the 20 session program to students in years 9 and 10. A number of students have expressed interest however for any further information please contact me at the College.

Uniform

A reminder to parents of girls that the hem of the skirt must reach the knee. We will be making some calls home to ask parents to correct this matter.

Driving

Students are not allowed to carry, for obvious reasons, other students in their cars unless permission has been granted by both families and in line with the Driving to School policy and guidelines.

2015 State and National Academic Results

Mrs Karen Merrick

NAPLAN

In May, 2015, students in Years 3, 5, 7, and 9 all completed the NAPLAN Tests. The aim of the NAPLAN Testing is to provide information about student achievement in a number of strands of literacy and numeracy across the nation. This information assists schools with the development of teaching and learning programs and to provide teachers and parents with data which can be used alongside school based assessment to inform student achievement.

The Literacy tests comprises of four skill areas – Reading; Writing; Spelling; Grammar and Punctuation whilst the Numeracy tests the skills in Number Patterns and Algebra; Measurement, Data, Space and Geometry. Overall, the student achievement in these tests were very pleasing, with trending improvement across a range of the skill areas and the year cohorts.

In the junior school, Year 3 as a cohort, achieved results above the state average and at or above AIS schools, in all components of literacy and numeracy. This is an excellent achievement by 2015 Year 3, whilst Year 5 as a cohort, achieved results which have continued to demonstrate growth across the areas of Literacy and Numeracy, with student achievement above the State mean in all components. In 2015, year 5 also reached the AIS mean in Data, Measurement, Space and Geometry, also a great achievement by those students.

In the secondary school, Year 7 and 9, achieved results which also showed positive trends with 81% of students in Year 9 achieving at or above expected growth and 50% of students in year 7 achieving at or above expected growth. There are certainly elements of literacy and numeracy which are being explored for further development in the secondary school.

Higher School Certificate

Congratulations to all 54 Arndell students who completed the Higher School Certificate in 2015, with some excellent results across the 29 subjects studied.

Highlights of the 2015 HSC include:

- 18 Band 6/E4
- 68 Band 5
- 16 Band E3 for Extension subjects
The following subjects achieved Band 6 or E4:

English Advanced, Mathematics, Mathematics General, Ancient History, Modern History, Music 1, PDHPE, Senior Science, Industrial Technology

Special mention to Jake Hilder who was nominated for InTech, an exhibition of outstanding Major projects from Higher School Certificate Industrial Technology students, covering all Industrial Technology focus areas. Jake’s project was a Graphics project.

ATARS 2015

The Australian Tertiary Admission Rank, or ATAR as it is more commonly known, is a number between 0 and 99.95, with increments of 0.05. It provides a measure of a Year 12 student’s overall achievement in relation to that of other students. The ATAR is a rank which enables Universities to sort applicants for tertiary selection. Not all students who complete the HSC choose to obtain an ATAR.

Congratulations to Madison Copland for her excellent achievement of 98.45 and Madeline Eglin who achieved 92.25. This is testament to the work and effort these girls demonstrated throughout their senior studies.

Congratulations to all the students in the Class of 2015. Faced with a myriad of challenges over the two years, they worked together and achieved extremely pleasing results overall, with a number of students being offered university positions, TAFE positions and a number entering straight into the workforce.

Uniform Shop – Blazer Fittings

Mrs Elizabeth Moore

Every student in the college (excluding prep) will require a blazer to wear with their winter uniform. Whilst winter changeover does not occur until Monday 9th May, now is the time to decide if your current blazer will still fit, OR if you require a new one (or a 2nd hand blazer).

Blazer fittings will be held on Wednesday 24th February, 2016.

Students must be at school on this day to be fitted. Year 7 will be fitted first at 8.30 am, followed by the rest of high school, infants and primary. Blazers are a compulsory part of the Arndell Anglican College school uniform and they are individually fitted for each student. It is worthwhile noting that the uniform shop keeps no stock of new blazers.

Peripatetic Lessons

Arndell Anglican College offers instrumental Music, Speech and Drama lessons that occur throughout the school day. This allows students to attend a lesson at a time that is set in consultation with parents. The program uses a rotating roster which ensures students do not miss the same classes regularly. The program runs all year with Music peripatetic staff completing 16 lessons per semester.

The cost of the program is $550 per semester for private lessons and is payable directly to the peripatetic teacher. Speech and Drama consists of 14 group lessons with a cost of $300. Group lessons are available for beginner Piano where numbers allow. ‘Kinderbeat’ is a preschool music program run by Mandy Refalo and Shareen Liggins, these group lessons are 45 minutes long and available at a cost of $300 a semester.

Students are encouraged to become involved in the annual peripatetic concert series, which give the students the opportunity to perform in a casual environment and to present the work they have completed throughout the year. We have had many successful performers come through the program and it is a testament to the high quality staff we have at Arndell.

At present, Arndell has a number of highly qualified peripatetic staff in the areas of Brass, Voice, Piano, Woodwind, Guitar, Bass Guitar, Drums, Speech and Drama, Violin and Cello. If you are interested in lessons please email chris.wilson@arndell.nsw.edu.au
